Brazos ISD Provides Update on Bond 2025 Construction Timeline

Wallis, Texas — Brazos Independent School District is providing the Brazos community with an update on the progress and timeline for projects approved as part of Bond 2025.

The district continues to work closely with SZS Architects and its construction manager, Collier Construction, to ensure all projects are designed and constructed responsibly, efficiently, and in alignment with our budget. This collaborative planning process is essential to delivering high-quality facilities that meet the long-term needs of students, staff, and the Brazos community.

As part of the design and bidding process, the Proposition B package developed by SZS Architects returned preliminary bids higher than initially anticipated. In response, Brazos ISD, SZS Architects, and Collier Construction are working collaboratively to evaluate design options, scope adjustments, and cost efficiencies to ensure the final projects deliver high-quality facilities within the approved bond budget. As final designs are completed, bid packets for the remaining Proposition B projects, along with all projects under Proposition A, are tentatively scheduled to be released in March.

Brazos ISD remains committed to transparency, accountability, and fiscal responsibility throughout the bond process. While this phase requires careful planning and coordination, these steps are necessary to ensure projects meet community expectations and deliver lasting value.

"We appreciate the patience and continued support of our community as we move through the design and bidding phases of Bond 2025," said Superintendent Dave Plymale. "Our goal is to deliver facilities that reflect the pride, tradition, and future of Brazos ISD while remaining fiscally responsible and within our budget."

Additional updates will be shared as bids are finalized and construction timelines are confirmed.
